What's in Store for You?
Join us for an engaging and interactive session, hosted by Shell, where we'll explore the future of sustainability reporting and its seamless integration into financial reporting. You'll gain insights into the evolving regulatory landscape and learn how to stay one step ahead.

Facing Common Challenges
In today's business world, we're all grappling with a growing list of sustainability regulations and reporting requirements. While every company is on a similar journey, the challenges we encounter may differ. We understand that nobody has cracked the code just yet. Questions arise: What data is essential? Is our data governance robust enough? Which technology is the right fit? How can we smoothly integrate new tools into our existing IT infrastructure?

Meet the Experts
During this session, you'll have the opportunity to hear from industry experts. Patrick de Winter, IT Manager Environment & Carbon, and Simone Haagen, IT Manager FN Sustainability & EPM, will share their experiences and insights. Their stories will provide valuable perspectives for your own journey.

Share Your Insights
But we're not here to just listen. We want you to be an active part of the conversation. Bring your own challenges, brainstorm brilliant ideas, and engage in a dynamic exchange of thoughts with like-minded professionals.
